

AS FOR ME
AND MY HOUSE

Prov. 23:26; Col. 3:21

Prov. 23:26; Col. 3:21

<sup>26</sup> Give me your heart, my son, and let your eyes delight in my ways.

<sup>21</sup> Fathers, do not antagonize your children, so that they will not become discouraged.

Focal Truth:

Godly parents care for their children's souls as they maintain a lifelong relationship of trust with them.

Observations:

1. Godly parents know the importance of childlike trust.
– Prov. 23:26
2. Godly parents passionately seek to maintain a relationship of trust with their children. – Prov. 23:26
3. Godly parents are blessed by their relationship of trust with their children.
4. Godly parents lead their children to trust in Jesus Christ as Lord and Savior.

Things to Remember:

1. Godly parents passionately seek the trust of their children.
2. Foolish-hearted children need the care of godly parents who love them.
3. When a child's heart is won, it brings joy to the parents and children.
4. Leading our children to give their hearts to Jesus Christ is the greatest of joys.
5. All children long to give their hearts to someone.
6. When you spend time with your children, your children will ask you questions about God and His word.

Daily Use – Family Challenge:

1. As parents, ask yourselves, do our children trust us?
2. As parents, ask yourselves, how can we restore trust in our relationship with our children?
3. Talk with your children about who they trust most.
4. Tell your children that you can always trust in Jesus Christ.

AS FOR ME
AND MY HOUSE

